BOODY'S "ACTION."

Returns the Affidavits Against the Health Officials.

He Mean to Pigeon-Hole the Sworn Charges?

Attempts to Combat the Evidence Would Be Unsuccessful.

For Boody has at last shown what he intends to do in reference to the charges against the Brooklyn Health Department.
He has returned the affidavits against thirty-two persons in the small sanitary house, 155 Prospect street, and in vain for a whole week for food, clothing and other necessities of life.
The affidavits were returned to the Health Department, and the Health Department has returned them to the parliament took the small-pox quarantine off 155 Prospect street. Dr. O'Grady visited the tenement, and after inspecting the inmates and assuring himself that there was no further danger, told them they were free to go where they liked. The policeman at the front hall door left his post, glad enough to get away from the unsavory place and the company of the tenants.

"The latter are told in their denunciation of Health Commissioner Griffin and his disappointment."

"It was not until yesterday afternoon that the Health Commissioner sent any reply to the house, although requests for some had been made to Capt. Faxon as early as Tuesday."

The citizens in its new columns of the previous day, also furnishes proof of "The Evening World's" charges, and to a citizen reporter, Superintendent Baker, admitted that he knew the inmates of 155 Prospect street were in want of food, but said he supposed Capt. Faxon had supplied their wants.
The fact that the health officials and the police then endeavored to shift the blame for the deplorable state of affairs exposed by "The Evening World" and confessed their guilt by further supplying the necessities of the quarantined people, is too fresh in the memory of the public to make attempts to discredit the sworn testimony of "The Evening World's" witnesses successful.

RACING ACROSS THE OCEAN.

The Campana, Faris and Puert Blomark Are Routes.

There are three feet transatlantic steamships plowing their way across the ocean.
Each one is making an effort to win new laurels and add further lustre to the pen-nants they fly.

The result is looked forward to with interest and with considerable interest for it is expected that something remarkable in the way of Atlantic voyages will be done. Each vessel has distinguished itself by making records, and it is thought that they possess the power of creating new ones.

The vessels are the new big Cunarder, Campana, that started everyone by her speed on her last trip to this port.

The Campana of the American line is another racer, and she holds the record of a day, 14 hours, and 24 minutes from Queens to New York. The Campana, which left Liverpool yesterday, will try to beat this time.

The other big ocean racer is the Puert Blomark, of the Hamburg-American line, which holds the record of 8 days, 11 hours and 44 minutes from Southampton to New York.

The Puert Blomark left Southampton at 12 o'clock yesterday and will try to beat the Campana.

This occasion presented itself Wednesday evening, after a conference with the head of the Health Department, Commissioner Griffin.
He is personally responsible for the outrage in this case. The Mayor turned over all the indictments to Commissioner Griffin.

In defense of this rather extraordinary proceeding Mayor Boody claimed afterwards that he had taken the step in order to give Commissioner Griffin an opportunity to vindicate himself.

An "Evening World" reporter called at Mayor Boody's office yesterday forenoon to inquire how the promised investigation was progressing. The Mayor refused to be interviewed. Several hours later the reporter again essayed to obtain the Mayor's ear, but this time he was told that Mr. Boody had gone for the day.

On his earlier visit the reporter left a note asking Mr. Boody what steps had been taken in reference to the charges against the Health Department. In reply to this the reporter was informed when he called again, Mr. Boody had instructed his secretary to return the affidavits.

This was done. The secretary, in handing over the affidavits, said:

"Mayor Boody desires me to say that he does not need these; he holds other affidavits which were procured from the same people by Commissioner Griffin."

A door-to-door canvass of 155 Prospect street elicited the fact that the housekeeper, Mrs. Ann Farrell, had made an affidavit at the request of somebody from the Health Department.

"What this affidavit contains could only be a matter of conjecture, as Mrs. Farrell was not even quite sure at first whether she had signed it. After repeated inquiries, however, she said:

"Come to think of it, I did put my hand to a pen."

After having furnished up her "recollections" to this extent Mrs. Farrell launched into a torrent of abuse upon the tenants in the house, saying that they had all fairly quarantined themselves with food during the quarantine.

In view of the fact that the heads of five families and a score of another family in the house had made affidavits concerning their discrepancies during the quarantine, and the possible statements of neighbors bearing them out, the housekeeper's attitude can only be explained on the supposition that influence of some sort had been brought to bear upon her in this matter.

Whether or not Mrs. Farrell's affidavit is a reflection of the statements she made to the reporter could not be ascertained, as this document has been jealously guarded from the eyes of the public.

It is the intention, however, of the Health Department to combat the affidavits of those six people, it would be well to remember that the Health Department by its action of a week ago yesterday acknowledged its guilt of the charges made.

On that day, when "The Evening World" responded to the appeals of the inmates of the quarantined house, sent a wagon load of provisions to the sufferers, the police, acting under instructions from the Health Department, refused to allow the food to be unloaded.

Then, under instruction from the Health Department, a sergeant of police made inquiry as to the necessities of the people in the house, and, five hours after the arrival of the relief sent by "The Evening World," supplied the provisions which were then admitted to be required.

If any supports of this contention be required, the files of the Brooklyn Citizen, con-cededly the organ of "Brooklyn," may be referred to. In the Citizen of May 13 appears the following introduction to an article on the subject of which "The Health Department's Tardy Relief for the Needy" headed part of the display board:

NINE SAILORS LOST AT SEA.

British Ship Lord Templetown Disappeared in a Hurricane.

Sixteen of the Crew Hurlled from Aboard by the Fall of a Yard.

QUEENSTOWN, May 20.—The British ship Lord Templetown, commanded by Capt.
Hawthorn, which sailed from London for Philadelphia via Boston as a further destination, on April 12, arrived here to-day after the loss of a number of the crew in a hurricane.

The voyage appears to have gone well until May 1, when the vessel was in latitude 45 north, longitude 43 west. The hurricane broke so severely on the vessel that sixteen men were sent aloft to shorten sail.

The trum broke and the yard fell to the deck. Eight of those who had gone aloft were hurled into the sea and drowned, one was killed by the fall of the yard and seven were severely injured.

Among those who lost their lives were the first mate and the boatswain. The sea rose to the main hatch and the vessel lost sails and yards in the terrible storm.

The ship ran before the wind until the hurricane abated, when the survivors insisted upon the captain making the nearest port, and the vessel accordingly came to Queenstown as fast as possible in her crippled condition.

RUNYON GOES ON TO BERLIN.

To-Day for New York.

LONDON, May 20.—Theodore Runyon, American Minister to Germany, started for Berlin to-day. All the members of the American Legation here were present at his departure. The railway placed a special saloon carriage at the disposal of the Minister.

Ex-Consul-General New took his departure to-day for the United States. The members of the consulate and numerous friends bade him farewell, and he started in a special carriage for Southampton, whence he will sail for New York.

AN UMBRIA PASSENGER DEAD.

Walter P. Bouviers Expires of Heart Yachts at Queens-town.

QUEENSTOWN, May 20.—Among the saloon passengers of the Cunard line steamer Umbria, Capt. McKay, which sailed from New York May 13 for Liverpool, was Walter P. Bouviers.

The Umbria reached Queens-town this morning. Just as she was entering the harbor, Mr. Bouviers died from heart failure and paralysis. The body of Mr. Bouviers was not landed here, but was taken on to Liverpool on the Umbria.

TRACING MISS MEINEL.

Dr. Doty Says He Doesn't Think She Will Spread Contagion.

No trace has yet been found of Miss Marie Meinel, who while convalescing from scarlet fever escaped from the Willard Parker Hospital Thursday night by means of a rope from her bedroom window.

Miss Meinel's escape was the result of her fear that she was to be sent to the pest-house on North Brother Island.

Dr. Doty, Chief of the Bureau of Contagious Diseases, says he is on the girls' track and inspectors are looking for her in the upper part of the city. He says he doesn't think she is a danger of spreading contagion, and cannot understand why she should have taken it into her head that she was to be sent to North Brother Island, as there was no intention of sending her there.

At the Willard Parker Hospital it was said that Miss Meinel was to have been discharged as cured to-day.

dency, France one Secretary and England land.

bergh, Sweden; May Wright Sewall, New York; President of the New York Society of Women's Suffrage, Mrs. M. C. Brewster, New York; Secretary, Mrs. M. C. Brewster,

BETTER IMMIGRANTS ARRIVING.

Supt. Stump Believes the New Methods Are Working Well.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Col. Herman Stump, Superintendent of Immigration, has returned from an official visit to Ellis Island, N. Y.

He says the service is beginning to run along satisfactorily, and the new Immigration law is working well.

Dr. Senner will continue to strictly enforce the law against the admission of idiots, paupers and diseased immigrants. The senators are beginning to understand this, as during the past few weeks they have been compelled to carry back to Europe many immigrants who had been detected from landing.

The work of the Government officials on the Ellis Island, too, is beginning to show in the better class of immigrants arriving.

Judge Cullen Decides the Trolley Road Franchise Case.

Says There Is Evidence of Fraud and Bad Faith.

A Second Decision Permits the Company to Offer $250,000.

Justice Cullen, in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, this morning, handed down two important decisions in the cases of John Adams against Mayor Boody and the Brooklyn Board of Aldermen and against the Nassau Electric Railroad Company, which is owned by the P. Faxon syndicate.

In the first decision the case is a suit brought by Adams against the Aldermen to restrain them from granting a franchise to the Union Railroad Company, which was organized by Faxon to operate on Union street, for he claimed to have obtained the consent of the majority of property owners on the proposed route.

The Aldermen granted the franchise to the company for nothing, while Adams, represented by the Nassau Electric Railroad Company, a corporation known as the Union Street Railroad Company, offered $50,000 for the privilege.

The Aldermen ignored Adams's offer on the ground that the Union Railroad Company had made the right appropriation.
Lawyer William J. Gaynor represented Adams.

In the second decision Judge Cullen declares that there was either collusion, fraud, corruption or bad faith in the declaration made by the company that they had obtained the consent of the property owners.

He renders judgment in favor of the plaintiff, which makes the granting of the franchise to the Union Railroad Company null and void.

The second decision was in the case of Adams against the Mayor and the Aldermen of Brooklyn to restrain them from selling franchises to the Nassau Electric and Brooklyn City Railroad companies for a sum total of about $250,000, and renders judgment in favor of the defendants.

The case was brought to court by William J. Gaynor when the Aldermen first passed the resolution granting these privileges, and which was subsequently vetoed by Mayor Boody. Lawyer Gaynor has contended that the franchise was worth a million dollars.

FRIGHTENED THE SHERIFF.

Anton Miller Held on a Charge of Disorderly Conduct.

Anton Miller, of 63 Hart street, was held in the Lee Avenue Court, Williamsburg, to-day, on a charge of disorderly conduct.

It was told in "The Evening World" yesterday how Miller and the family of Theodore Loeffler had some trouble, and Deputy Sheriff Winters was asked to serve a summons on Miller by Justice Goetting, returned in an excited state and said that Miller had chased him from the house and through the streets with a big sabre.

Miller was arrested at his home last night, and went quietly to the station house. He said that Winters had come to his home after 10 o'clock at night and, after refusing to leave, he had flourished a big club in Mrs. Miller's face.

"This made me mad," said Miller,
"and I got out of bed and chased the fellow. He was not a big fellow, but he has taught him not to play any more of his monkey tricks. But I fell at the feet of the law."

Outside of what Winters said, there is no evidence of a sword flourishing in the audience made a rush for the doors.
The performers remained calm and the manager of the theatre soon appeared at the footlights and stated that the noise was caused by the bursting of a water pipe.

This assured the people, most of whom returned to their seats. Nobody was injured in the momentary rush.

away with him. He soon deserted her and she returned to her home.

SMAKS OF BOODLE.

Some Queer Disclosures Follow Engineer Bacot's Removal.

Was There a Deal in Repairing Staten Island Roads?

Old Board of Supervisors Said to Be Concerned in Questionable Transactions.

The removal, for alleged incompetency, of County Engineer William S.
Bacot, by the Richmond County Board of Supervisors, has revived the talk about the alleged existence of a "buddle" ring, which has successfully hoodwinked the people, and has lined its members' pockets most beautifully.

In 1890 the Richmond County Board of Supervisors, of which Nathaniel Marsh was the Chairman, proposed to improve thirty miles of county roads, at a cost of about $100,000 a mile.

By a provision of a special statute, the Board of Supervisors of Roads was created, and the Board of Supervisors selected William S. Bacot to fill the office.

Shortly after the appointment of Engineer Bacot, David Marsh, a brother of the Chairman of the Board of Supervisors, H. Bacot, of the law firm of Bacot & Record, of Jersey City, and William D. Lull, of New York, organized the New Jersey Trap Rock Company, and procured a license to quarry stone at Snake Hill, N. J.

Engineer Bacot had in the mean time made his estimate of the cost of the improvements proposed, and submitted his figures, which were $234,642.

The work was ordered to proceed, and it was found that broken stone would be needed in large quantities, and, by a coincidence, the new Engineer picked out the New Jersey Trap Rock Company to supply it. Several contractors were put to work on the seven twenty-ton cars, are lying on the dock divisions of the work in hand, all under the supervision of Engineer Bacot.
